

#shareyournature

wilden.
herbals

wildenherbals.com

wilden.

herbals

We are a herbal teas and botanical-infused beverages company based in Italy. With a premium selection of herbs, our products enhance the value, the taste and the traditional culture of officinal plants.

Wilden creates botanical blends with a contemporary twist drawing from rich tradition, popular myths and the healing powers of plants. We support a new discovery of high quality infusions in herbal tea cut and we promote a pleasant, healthy daily ritual.

Wilden was founded in 2018 by Nicola Robecchi and Delfino Sisto Legnani with a purpose: to give value and to educate about the benefits of plants and spices through environmentally sustainable products. Our creations are deep-rooted in the territories where raw materials are cultivated, in local food cultures and in agricultural knowledge of the growers.

Impact by design. Our branded values and identity

We believe change arises from awareness. That's why Wilden combines a high quality manufacturing following the traditional made in Italy know-how with a passionate and accurate attention to every aspect of the production cycle, from raw materials to the recipe refinement, from design process to packaging.

Herbs, plants and roots come from 100% organic agriculture and are dehydrated naturally. This goes hand in hand with a compostable package and an unparalleled taste ensuring a healthy break for your personal daily well-being.

Wilden herbal teas and beverages lead to a highly sensorial and healing experience in the most natural and authentic way through the purest raw ingredients. Our products are good for our body and soul, as the poet Henry David Thoreau once said, "In wildness is the preservation of the world".

Wilden aims to contribute significantly in changing the food supply chain: we are committed to a sustainable development for botanical productions, an industry which is more and more instrumental in our life. Our contemporary ethnobotanical vision is grounded in the respect for nature and in the love for the lands, aspiring to give life to a community made of passionate natural food enthusiasts and healthy lovers. Dedicated to all of us and our environment.

wildenherbals.com
#shareyournature

